Wm. Burns Smedley Suicides.

Wm. B. Smedley, son of Wm. E. Smedley, an Ex-Bourbon, now of Salt Lake City, Utah, was found dead Sunday in his room in a lodging house at Detroit. Mich. Mr. Smedley was an actor, and his stage name was Robert Deland. He committed suicide by turning on the gas, and had not been seen by his friends since Thursday. He was 30 years of age and a nephew of Messrs. A. and B. Smedley, of Hutchison, this county. He left a note on the table in the room saying: "My only request is that I be buried here at the expense of the city. I have no money. I have spent many hundreds of dollars while here as a member of various theatrical companies. Don't notify my parents. It is unnecessary."

On the back of this note he had written that weakness and illness as the result of an operation for appendicitis and an attack of typhoid fever had incapacitated him for work. "I am very well connected, probably better than any one in the theatrical profession. Last season I played a leading role in 'The Chaparrones'."

He had appeared in this city on several occasions with leading theatrical companies, and was thought by all to have bright prospects in his chosen profession.

A Paris Boy to Wed.

Because the Pacific Liner, Corea, carried a cargo of mess beef for Russian soldiers, she was fired upon by a Japanese cruiser, and beautiful Miss Gertrude Jackson, of St. Louis, on her way to wed her American sweetheart in China, became the Mikado's prisoner. The sweetheart referred to is Sam T. Neely, formerly of this city. Mr. Neely is located at Shanghai, China, where he is employed by the United States government in the capacity of a civil engineer. The couple have been sweethearts for years and as Mr. Neely could not leave his post of duty, his fiancée left for that country to join him.

More Lucas Suits.

State Auditor's Agent Henry Lucas Saturday filed claims in the Bourbon County Clerk's office for back taxes on sums aggregating $2,500,000 against five of our Bourbon County banks, the First National and Farmers of Clintonville the only ones escaping. The taxes due cover a period of about four or five years and is on money and collaterals.

The same party also filed Saturday claims in the Fayette County Clerk's office for back taxes on sums over a million dollars against the Security Trust and Safety Vault Company and the Central Bank.

In another item in this issue you will see where Auditor Hager has called a halt on this energetic agent who has filed similar claims in all parts of the state. It is time that this business is stopped unless you want to run all of the capital out of the State.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

"The Henderson Route"—Always First. The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort in travel for its patrons which is now being offered by that most popular railroad, the "Henderson Route," which road has been rightly termed the "Kentucky's Official Route to the West and Southwest."

It has just been announced from the general office of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway that they now have in service on their night trains between Louisville and St. Louis, Free Reclining Chair Cars, which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are strictly up-to-date, first-class "palaces of travel" on wheels, and this is only one of the many surprises which are promised the public for the World's Fair travel by the Henderson Route.

Among other advantages offered in these highly finished cars, a few of the most important points only are mentioned:

They are solidly vestibuled and are furnished with six-to-four reclining chairs, which are upholstered in beautiful green plush, in addition to smoking and toilet rooms, the smoking rooms being finished throughout in leather. They are also fitted up with triple tracks, which feature will do away with the jerk, jar and strain incident to travel in the ordinary railway coach, and insures a smooth, comfortable ride. This should prove more than a popular feature in train service to the traveling public, and you can only suggest that in traveling you "get the Henderson Route" habit.

THE COTTON CORNER.

D. J. Sully, the Biggest Figure in It, Failed.

Within a Few Moments Cotton Fell Nearly $13 a Bale From the Highest Figures of the Day—Many Stirring Scenes Ensued.

New York, March 19.—Daniel J. Sully, the cotton operator who has for 15 months been the biggest figure in the cotton markets of the world, and who has "billed" cotton from seven cents a pound to over 17, announced his inability to make good his engagements on the New York cotton exchange Friday. Within a few moments cotton fell nearly $13 a bale from the highest figures of the day.

Scenes such as followed the announcement of the failure it has been the privilege of few brokers to witness before. Traders in the street have witnessed stock panics in previous years; corners have been broken and many crashes have been recorded but none has been accompanied by such frenzy and confusion.

Business had been transacted in the usual way throughout the morning session with no indication of any unusual event. Shortly after the afternoon session, however, there was a lull in the pit and about 2 o'clock the announcement of the failure was made by Superintendent King.

For a few seconds there was an ominous quiet over the floor as though the news had stunned all within hearing of the announcement. Then with one impulse a mighty shout went up from the bears, they who had been fighting Sully and the bull clique for months. Hats were thrown into the air to fall where they would, a moment later to be trampled upon by the stampede for the pit. Coats were torn by frantic brokers in their mad efforts to unload their holdings and chairs and campstools were dashed into the pit to emphasize some wild broker's offer to sell. Messengers soon were rushing in and out of the building with orders to sell or buy; telephone booths were besieged, and telegraph offices were flooded with dispatches.

Outside the cotton exchange appearances gave little indication of the pandemonium within until the messengers began to rush between the exchange and the brokers' offices. Soon the news reached the stock, produce and coffee exchanges, and traders on these markets hastened to the scene of the panic. Crowds assailed the entrance to the visitors' gallery, but a double guard was placed at the doors and admittance was refused to all but those accompanied by members.

It was estimated that something like three-quarters of a million bales of cotton were traded in during the 20 minutes of the panic that followed the announcement, and that of this upwards of half a million bales represented "forced liquidation" or the selling out of men whose margins have been nearly or quite wiped out. As the market slumped 250 points during this period the loss falling on this element amounted to something over a million dollars.

Philadelphia, March 19.—Large manufacturers and users of cotton in this city were somewhat pleased with the collapse of the cotton corner, although they maintain that the reduction in prices will have no immediate effect in reducing prices of finished products. Most of the mills report that the season's output has been made up from the high-priced materials.

ANTI-LYNCHING CRUSADE.

Resolutions Adopted By a Camp of United Confederate Veterans.

Grenada, Miss., March 21.—An anti-lynching crusade has been inaugurated by the W. R. Barksdale Camp, United Confederate Veterans, of this city. The following significant resolutions were unanimously adopted at a largely attended meeting of the camp:

First, that we are unalterably opposed to the lynching of a human being save perhaps for the one unmentionable crime.

Second, that as confederate veterans and law abiding citizens of Mississippi and of the United States we are violently, vehemently and eternally opposed to the practice of burning a human being for any crime whatsoever.

Third, that we appeal in thundering tones to all confederates, their wives and daughters, and to that great and glorious organization, the Daughters of the Confederacy, one and all, to arise in their might and by precept and example, voice and pen, moral force and influence, help put a stop to this diabolical, barbarous, unlawful, inhuman and ungodly crime of burning human beings.

Fourth, that we heartily approve and applaud the action of Gov. Vardaman in his recent successful efforts to save a criminal from a mob bent on burning.

IN NEW ENGLAND.

An Earthquake Caused a Tremor Throughout the Eastern Section.

Boston, March 21.—An earthquake Monday morning caused a tremor throughout the entire eastern section of New England. Beginning at St. John, N. B., the seismic vibrations traversed the state of Maine, causing some slight damage to buildings in Augusta, Bangor and Portland. The shock was felt plainly as far south as Staunton, in this state. Reports from Manchester, N. H., and Springfield, Mass., state that the vibrations were felt distinctly in those two cities.

Observers at the Harvard university astronomical observatory in Cambridge felt the shock. At Augusta, Me., lamp chimneys were broken and crockery was smashed. The vibrations lasted several seconds and in nearly every instance occurred about four minutes after 1 o'clock.

It is to be used for homes for the lake dwelling tribes of the Philippines, and will also afford fire protection. This and other bodies of water will be supplied from the city mains.

All Property Within Their Paths Have Been Destroyed.

Hemingford, Neb., March 21.—Disastrous prairie fires have swept the range country. The ground being dry the fire burned the roots of the grass in the ground, destroying it for grazing for three years. One strip burned is six miles wide and 127 miles long, another more than 20 miles long, while another strip, still burning north of Niobrara river, seems to be even more extensive. DISASTERS AT SEA.

Two Barks Collide and Twenty-Two Men Drowned.

The American Steamship New York Collided With the British Troop Ship Assaye—The Latter Was Badly Damaged.

Dublin, March 21.—The German bark Mona collided with the English bark Lady Cairns off Dublin bay Sunday morning. The Lady Cairns sank in a few minutes. Her crew of 22 were drowned. The Mona, which was much damaged, was assisted into Dublin harbor.

The Lady Cairns was a three-masted iron ship of 1,186 tons. She was commanded by Capt. T. Evans and was bound from Liverpool for Timaru, New Zealand. She was built in Belfast in 1869 and was owned by L. Tulloch, of Swansea. The Mona was commanded by Capt. Schwarting and was last reported at Adressan.

Southampton, March 21.—The American line steamship New York, Capt. Young, from New York, March 12, for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, met with two mishaps Sunday, grounding off Cape La Hague, France, in the early morning, and later coming into collision in the English channel with the Peninsular and Oriental steamship Assaye, under contract to the British government and used as a troop ship, bound for Bombay with 500 troops on board.

The New York grounded while approaching Cherbourg at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning during a fog. The sea was smooth, however, and the tide was on the flood, and within an hour and a half the vessel was floated without assistance. Her bottom was damaged and there was water in the holds, but she was able to proceed.

During the voyage up the channel a dense fog descended. When off Hurst Castle, England, the Assaye suddenly appeared and it was found impossible to avoid a collision. The New York's bow crashed into the Assaye's starboard bow, tearing a great gap in that vessel. The New York's bowsprit and figure head were carried away, and the latter was smashed into fragments.

There was great excitement on both vessels. The boats of the Assaye were lowered and the troops were mustered, but the bulkhead of the troopship saved her. Both vessels were able to enter Southampton; and the New York was docked at 6:30 for temporary repairs. Nobody was injured. It will be impossible to estimate the damage to the New York until she has been put into dry dock.

It is believed that both vessels have been somewhat seriously injured. Another troopship will replace the Assaye.

PRESIDENT A. M. CANNON.

He Referred to His Imprisonment in a Sermon Delivered Sunday.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 21.—President Angus M. Cannon, of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, referred in the Mormon tabernacle Sunday to his confinement in the state prison for polygamous cohabitation some years ago, described himself as being "imprisoned for the testimony of Jesus." He said:

"When I was out there on the hill" (at the penitentiary) "for polygamous cohabitation, imprisoned for the testimony of Jesus and testifying to the teachings of God, I wrote to the mothers of my children to teach them obedience to the will of God. I wrote them, 'Men can not build walls so high or prisons so deep as to shut out the spirit of God.'"

Five of the Employees Were Painfully Injured—Loss $150,000.

More than 50 street cars were burned. The building was 250 feet long and 200 feet wide. This is the second of the Union Traction Co.'s barns to burn within a week, and both fires are believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 23 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Painful Periods

are quickly and permanently overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The above letter is only one of hundreds of thousands which prove this statement to be a fact. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality, if it is painful something is wrong. Don't take narcotics to deaden the pain, but remove the cause—perhaps it is caused by irregularity or womb displacements, or the development of a tumor. Whatever it is, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is guaranteed to cure it.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are very foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

Details of Another Case.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and carelessness is the cause of most of the sufferings of women. I believe that if we properly understood the laws of health we would all be well, but if the sick women only knew the truth about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, they would be saved much suffering and would soon be cured."

"I used it for five months for a local difficulty which had troubled me for years, and for which I had spent hundreds of dollars in the vain endeavor to rectify. My life forces were being sapped, and I was daily losing my vitality."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me completely, and I am now enjoying the best of health, and am most grateful, and only too pleased to endorse such a great remedy."—Miss JENNIE L. EDWARDS, 604 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

World's Fair March, 1904.

Mr. John C. Weber, director of Weber's Military Band of Cincinnati, known as the "Prize Band of America," has composed the St. Louis World's Fair March 1904—dedicated to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. It will be distributed through the passenger department of the B. & O. S-W. R. R., World's Fair Route, at 10 cents per copy.

The music is in sheet form, arranged for the piano, being very handsomely gotten up, with highly illuminated title cover. Mr. John C. Weber is not only a great musical director, but he has written some very catchy and popular marches. The St. Louis World's Fair March is his latest success, and will add further to his fame.

Mr. Weber and his great organization of artists has twice defeated all comers in national contests at Elks' Reunions. The latest triumph was at Baltimore, Md., on the 21st of last July, when, in a notable contest, composed of the leading bands of America, won the first prize of $1,000. It is confidently expected that Mr. Weber's World's Fair March will become a popular air during the next year, and every household should have a copy of this music.

Send 10 cents in silver to the undersigned and copy of the World's Fair March will be mailed to your address.

GEO. L. GARRETT, Traveling Passenger Agent, L. J. IRWIN, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky.

THRO' KENTUCKY.

Thro' the grand state of Kentucky, Where the "Old Home" got its name, Where the fields are overflowing With the yellow ripening grain.

Here tobacco plants are growing, In the fields not sown with corn, Tobacco plants—big as cactus— Just as sure as you are born.

Yes, they're large as good-sized cactus, Larger in our home-like view, But it's of a fine grade as Is that old "Kentucky Dew."

Here all people reap a harvest, Money in bank from year to year, All the green calamity howlers, Lose their jobs when they land here.

Here the "dry" ways are the highways, Built high and dry from rains and flood, Here the "good roads delegation," Swear the roads are suit'ly good.

But of pikes and highways finest, There's a "road" that suits my taste; Tis the line of Solid Comfort, And the trains let no time waste.

From Kentucky to St. Louis, Operates this road of class, Across the famous old "Green River" On its roadbed smooth as glass.

Would you know the road I speak of? Listen then to my advice, For you'll need it in your business, On your trip to Paradise.

In your travels to St. Louis—Hurry, beat them under the wire, "Get the Henderson Route" habit— 'Tis a good one to acquire.

A FIERCE CONTEST.

The Battle Between the Torpedo Boats Described.

Thirty Russians on Board the Stereguschchi Were Terribly Mutilated By a Shell From the Jap's Gun —A Sickening Sight.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—Concerning the loss of the armored cruiser Boyarin at Port Arthur, a private letter received here says that the vessel was struck by a floating mine dropped by the Japanese. Naval engineers are preparing to raise the Boyarin, though it is considered doubtful that she will be fit for fighting services, as it is feared that the tremendous concussion sustained from the explosion of the floating mine has more than likely strained the frames.

A correspondent who has just visited Port Arthur telegraphed Friday from Mukden as follows:

"Despite the various bombardments at Port Arthur the external aspect of the has taken place, as the distance between the opposing armies is great. The bulk of the Russian forces, the dispatch adds, has not yet passed the Yalu river.

A correspondent of the Times at New Chwang cables as follows: According to information received here the reason the Vladivostok forts did not reply to the bombardment by the Japanese was because the batteries were not provided with guns. Since the bombardment, parties have been working night and day to place guns in position. The Russian losses were slight because the batteries were deserted.

A correspondent of the Times with the Japanese forces, by wireless telegraph via Wei-Hai-Wei, under date of March 20, sends over a column of matter which is mostly a description of the torpedo fight between the Russians and the Japanese on March 9.

He confirms the fierceness of the contest. The vessels were so close that the Russians threw charges of explosives on to the bridge of one of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers. These, however, failed to detonate. All the vessels engaged were more or less damaged. The Japanese losses were six killed and eight wounded. That the city remains unchanged, although the enemy fired an enormous number of projectiles. The marine monsters in the harbor look like enormous black hulls and the battleships and cruisers bear the marks of the fighting. The black clouds of smoke from their stacks overhang the town.

"Near the entrance of the harbor can be seen the charred wrecks of the Japanese fire ships. Aboard one of the farthest out was found the body of a Japanese officer who had shot himself.

"Six hours of firing by the heaviest guns during the last bombardment did not demolish a single building, but cost a few lives. The husband and children of the Baroness Frank, who was decapitated by fragments of shell flying in through the window, were unhurt.

"The enemy in endeavoring to stand as far as possible outside the range of the Russian batteries, rendered their own ineffective. The people are getting used to the bombardments and the Japanese squadron cruising in the offing caused little alarm. Occupations are resuming their wonted course and many stores have been reopened.

"Not a few women heroically refuse to leave Port Arthur, regardless of the tragic death of Baroness Frank. During the height of the cannonading one woman, armed with dressings for wounds, wandered the streets ready to afford aid to the wounded.

"During the engagement between the Russian and the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers the boats came into very close quarters, being within a few fathoms' length of each other. A torpedo from the Russian destroyer Vlastin tore off the stern of one of the enemy's destroyers, her captain standing on the bridge as she sank amidst wild cries."

London, March 21.—Nothing has reached here to confirm the report that a battle has taken place on the Yalu in which the Russians captured 1,800 prisoners.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg dated Sunday says there has been no change in the situation and that all is quiet on both land and sea between the Russian line from Ping Yang to the Yalu river and the Japanese line to Gensan. There have been slight skirmishes between scouts, but no battle.

Arrived at Vladivostok.

Vladivostok, March 21.—The first detachment of the Red Cross from Russia has arrived and has been distributed among the field hospitals. More than a hundred nurses have been sent from here to Manchuria and Korea.

Colored Barber Nominated.

Augusta, Ga., March 21.—The republicans of the Tenth congressional district met at Sparta, Hancock county, and nominated Sim Walton, a colored barber of Augusta, to oppose Congressman T. W. Hardwick, the democratic incumbent.

Killed in the Bull Ring.

El Paso, Tex., March 21.—"Cuco," whose real name is Antonio Fernandez, a matador, was killed Sunday in the bull ring at Juarez by a bull to which he had just administered the death thrust in the presence of 3,000 people.

Hager Calls a Halt.

State Auditor Hager has determined to take steps to stop the wholesale filing of suits against corporations and individuals by Auditors' Agents claiming to act for him by virtue of appointments made by former Auditor Coulter in the second year of his term for a period of four years, and which suits are being filed without the authority or the advice of the present Auditor of Public Accounts, as the law requires, according to his construction of it. In carrying out his determination Judge Hager Saturday addressed a letter to Attorney Frank A. Lucas, of Paducah, one of the four Auditor's Agents of the State at large, notifying him of his repudiation of his (Lucas') "pretended official action" in filing in a number of County Courts in Southern and Western Kentucky a multiplicity of suits against State banks seeking to have assessed against them retroactively all deposits made with them by persons for the purpose of State and county taxation, and of his intention to in each instance direct that the suits be dismissed.

Continuing, the Auditor gives the agent notice that according to the provisions of the law, the term of Lucas as an Auditor's Agent has ceased and that even should this not be true he (Lucas) has no power to bring suits without authority from the State Auditor.

Hager Calls a Halt.

State Auditor Hager has determined to take steps to stop the wholesale filing of suits against corporations and individuals by Auditors' Agents claiming to act for him by virtue of appointments made by former Auditor Coulter in the second year of his term for a period of four years, and which suits are being filed without the authority or the advice of the present Auditor of Public Accounts, as the law requires, according to his construction of it. In carrying out his determination Judge Hager Saturday addressed a letter to Attorney Frank A. Lucas, of Paducah, one of the four Auditor's Agents of the State at large, notifying him of his repudiation of his (Lucas') "pretended official action" in filing in a number of County Courts in Southern and Western Kentucky a multiplicity of suits against State banks seeking to have assessed against them retroactively all deposits made with them by persons for the purpose of State and county taxation, and of his intention to in each instance direct that the suits be dismissed.

Continuing, the Auditor gives the agent notice that according to the provisions of the law, the term of Lucas as an Auditor's Agent has ceased and that even should this not be true he (Lucas) has no power to bring suits without authority from the State Auditor.

UNLUCKY CONDUCTOR.—One of the most popular conductors on the Interurban is Mr. Geo. M. Davis, of this city, for he is careful, polite and a faithful employee. Yet he seems to have been rather unlucky, for every accident that has happened on the road Mr. Davis has been in charge of the car. In every instance they have been unavoidable. We wish him better luck in the future and will try to find him a rabbit foot.

This "sportsman" now shies when he sees a feather bed and even "ducks" when he sees an elderdown comfort.

Judge Russell Mann was re-elected President, and the resident pastors vice-presidents, Smith Clark, Secretary, and G. W. Davis Treasurer and Depository. The collections taken up in the various churches for the cause aggregated about $65.

The address for this time was assigned to Rev. U. G. Foote, Methodist, of Lexington, and a better selection could not have been made. His address was splendid, both able and eloquent.

HOME-MADE LARD.—I will sell my celebrated Home-made Prime Leaf Lard the balance of this month and no longer at 10 cents per pound.

april H. MARGOLEN.

JACKSON Cough Syrup will cure that Cough.

GOOD DAY IN POLICE COURT.—Judge Hinton was kept busy yesterday for a little while dealing out Easter presents to the following who mistook Sunday for Easter and celebrated:

"Tony" Pfeiffer, charged with using insulting language over the telephone to Central office of the Home, was presented with a fine of $22.50. He will appeal the case.

Geo. Tiffy, colored, disorderly conduct, got $10.00 with trimmings.

John Forston and Jesse Claypole received $7.50 each for plain Sunday drunk.

Chas. Brown, colored, disorderly conduct, was given the usual dose of $7.50.

Tapping The Sewer.

Quite a number of Main street property owners are having connections made with the sewer in front of their business houses, and we understand many more have filed applications to do the same. Those that have not had better get in the band wagon, for the first day of April will soon be here, when the new city ordinance goes into effect. It will be five dollars fine for every day you run over this date without tapping. This is an ordinance that will be enforced to the letter, and should be.

TOBACCO CANVAS.—Buy your tobacco canvas from Freeman & Freeman, at 2½ and 3 cents.

Derrick Takes a Tumble.

On Saturday, the large derrick on the North end of new Court House building fell with a crash that sounded like all of that end of the house was knocked down, but fortunately no damage was done. It was lifting one of the 20,000-pound iron girders that is to be used for the roof, and had gotten it about fifteen feet from the ground, when the cast iron footing of the mast of the derrick broke. It will only cause a short delay, as another casting was ordered at once. Two of the wire cables also broke from the great weight.

FOR RENT.—Lower flat with water. Private entrance. If Miss R. DOHRER.

An Honest Coon.

The wife of Evangelist Ham, who is now holding a protracted meeting at Lexington, was in Paris, Saturday, visiting Mr. Everett Ham, a brother of her husband, who is ill with inflammatory rheumatism at his father-in-law's, Mr. E. B. January.

On passing down Main street she dropped a very handsome gold watch, going on to Mr. January's without missing it. Columbus Snell, a well-known colored man, picked the watch from the street and seeing a lady some distance away in a gray dress thought probably she had lost the watch and awaited her return and handed it over. "Lum" was formerly an employee of the printing offices of our city—hence his streak of honesty.

WIEDEMAN has the goods. They are there with their Bock. (mar18-4t)

When The Screws Tighten Work Begins.

Several weeks ago the City Council ordered suit filed against the Paris Water Co. for $15,000 damages for failing to comply with contract all along the line. The suit is now pending in Circuit Court. The screws tighten and work begins. There are now about twenty men at work on the new filter which was promised by the company from the very start. The capacity of these filters is a little more than a million and a half gallons a day. It is said the work will be pushed and the filters completed by July 1st. It is to be hoped this is true, for we will then have as good water service as any city in the South. We are entitled to it—for the water rent is higher than other neighboring cities and service has never been good. We are from Missouri and will wait to see the finish before other comments.

HEMP SEED.—Best Cultivated Kentucky River Bottom Hemp Seed for sale. Time of payment to suit purchaser. Will contract for the new growing hemp crop. E. F. SPEARS & SONS.

Another New Building.

Mr. J. Simms Wilson, the hustling and enterprising farming implements, vehicle and seed merchant, on Saturday, purchased of Mr. George Alexander the store room and lot, formerly occupied by Mr. Newton Mitchell, fronting on Main and running back to Pleasant street, also the lot on Pleasant street, in rear of the banking Geo. Alexander & Co., running toward Main street 113½ feet. Price, $5,000.

Mr. Wilson will at an early day begin the erection of a three story brick building upon his purchase to conduct his large increasing business. In addition to the New Court House and the Elks' New Home, this new business house will be quite an ornament to this end of the town, which seems to be on a boom.

AN EXPERT CUTTER.—W. J. R. Alexander, expert cutter for L. E. Hays & Co., Cincinnati's great tailors, will have on display, at our store, April 4 and 5, an elegant line of Foreign Fabrics in Suits, Trousers and Overcoatings. PARKER & JAMES.

$2.00 WHISKY.—Best $2.00 whisky in Paris can be found at FRANK SALOSHIN'S.

Horrible Accident.

A horrible and probably fatal accident occurred late yesterday afternoon at the G. G. White distillery, in East Paris. Newt. Bogus was engaged in working around one of the slop tubs when he lost his balance and pitched head-foremost into the scalding slop. He was horribly scalded, his flesh falling off in places. The physicians say he cannot live. Mr. Bogus is a hard working and industrious man, about 35 years old, and lives with his family, a wife and two small children, on Bank Row, adjoining the Simms warehouse.

If you buy your wall paper of me, you know the prices are right, because I buy for cash and in quantities. Neither do you have to wait a month to get your room papered, as I have the goods in stock. J. T. HINTON.

It Died a Boring.

THE NEWS on several occasions has asked the question, "What has become of the Paris Commercial Club?" The question has never been answered up to this date, but echo answers, "it died a boring." Several years ago such a club was organized in this city, a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer were elected, and a nice little sum was paid in as membership fees. Several very enthusiastic meetings were held and it looked as if Paris was going to do great things. But all of a sudden the club seemed to get hold of an overdose of dope and passed peacefully and quietly out of existence.

Every city in Kentucky the size of Paris has an organization of this kind, and it is a daily occurrence that we read in our exchanges of committees being appointed to push some enterprise to the front for their respective cities. Wake up and shake the moss off your back, and with our natural advantages we can have the liveliest and busiest town in Kentucky.

Better Late Than Never.

The city hands have been at work for several days tearing up Duncan avenue, and in a short time you will see a smooth and substantial street made with the new street machinery recently purchased by the Council. Our streets have been in a terrible condition ever since the sewer was put in, and it looked as if they would continue in that condition, but the city "dads" have at last started the work and promise to give Paris the best and most approved acadamized streets. "Better late" than never," if you keep the steam up and finish the job.

EIGHT YEARS OF TORTURE.

No suffering more keen than kidney suffering. Sick kidneys make bad blood; cause weak, stiff and aching
backs; cause blind,
sick and dizzy headaches, lack of appetite and loss of sleep; keep you all tired out and spoil digestion.

To have perfect
health, you must cure
the kidneys. Read how one man was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills
after eight years of torture.

Henry Soule, of Putney St., Hammondport, N. Y., says: "For eight years I suffered constant agony from kidney complaint. I endured the worst torture from gravel and the kidney secretions were excessive and contained sediment like brick dust. I had to get out of bed from ten to twenty times a night and the loss of sleep wore me out. Indigestion came on and the distress after eating was terrible.
Doan's Kidney Pills effected a complete and lasting cure, and after the symptoms of kidney trouble were gone my stomach began to work as it should. This lasting cure, especially in a person of my age, proves the great value of Doan's Kidney Pills more convincingly than could any words of mine."

Doan's Kidney Pills sold by all druggists; price 50 cents per box, or mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn

Love's Awakening

By
ALBERT J. KLINCK

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

THE two had long sat silent, the husband holding a folded newspaper, the wife toying with a costly fan. The light from the single lamp hardly penetrated to the corners of the large room, and the fire in the grate had burned so low that it was all but out.

"Yes," the wife said, "it is time a change took place. We cannot agree.
There is no comfort for either of us here."

Constance Harcourt rose from her seat, cast the fan carelessly upon the table, took up a book that was lying there, and left the room.

Arthur Harcourt did not move until he heard footsteps in the room above;
then he roused himself and thought over what his wife had said. His brow was furrowed at first, his breast heaved. Then he laughed. It really was such a huge joke! Constance going to leave him! Constance going to —He laughed again. But his levity was suddenly cut short, for he heard a swish of skirts in the hallway, and a few hurried words spoken in an undertone. A moment later Chalmers, the butler, came into the room, placed upon the table a tray holding a bottle and a single glass, and was about to withdraw when Harcourt asked:

"To whom were you just speaking?"

"Mrs. Harcourt, sir," he replied.

"And what was the conversation about?"

"She asked me would I please carry some parcels for her," said Chalmers.

"Is she dressed for the street?"

"Yes, sir."

"Tell Mrs. Harcourt I desire to see her at once."

"Yes, sir," said Chalmers, leaving the room.

Arthur Harcourt was walking up and down when his wife entered. She came in noiselessly, and he was not aware of her presence until he heard her "Well?" in a high, clear voice.

"You are carrying this farce too far, Constance," he began.

"You forget," she said. "We have already gone beyond the bounds of farce. We have entered the realm of drama."

"Be careful that the end of it will not be tragedy," he said coldly. "Where are you going?"

"And if I refuse to answer your question?"

"Where are you going?" he asked again.

Constance said nothing.

"Are you going to your father?"

"Perhaps, and perhaps not."

"Say yes or no," Harcourt demanded.

"I shall do neither."

Arthur Harcourt stood still. For one awful moment his eyes were ferre-ly upon her. Then he stretched forth his hands to clutch at her white throat, but she quickly withdrew, closing the door behind her and locking it from the outside. Then she motioned to Chalmers, and led the way to an unused wing of the large house. Here she removed her gloves, hat and wraps, and turning up the lamp, addressed the bewildered butler:

"You are to tell no one of my presence here. When the opportunity presents itself bring my meals to me.
In case cook questions you, tell her to mind what I have told her. She'll understand. Should my husband ask where you went with me, tell him I entered a cab at the corner, and dismissed you. You are positively not to tell him I am here. Do you understand, Chalmers?"

"Yes, Mrs. Harcourt, I understand," he replied.

For the next two or three days Arthur Harcourt was in a daze. He shunned his friends, acted queerly when at his business, and when evening came sat alone in the great room that had been the scene of his last interview with his wife. He could not read, he could not sleep. The memory of that evening clung to him like a leech.

There were times when Chalmers felt extremely sorry for his master, especially when he found him sitting alone in the evening. And it was because he felt this way that he one night admitted Sam Truxton into Harcourt's presence. Chalmers had strict orders to state that his master was at home to no one. On this occasion, however, he saw fit to disobey, reasoning that a quiet little chat with a friend would be of great benefit to his master.

Upon entering the room Truxton started at sight of the dejected figure in the large armchair. Harcourt looked bad enough in the daytime, but at night, in the yellow glow of the lamp, he looked positively ghastly.

"This I'll never do, Arthur," Truxton began. "And I'm going to be frank with you. This story about your wife's being away is all bosh. She's here in the very city. She's—"

"Good God, Truxton," cried Harcourt, "where is she?"

"Then you don't know?"

"No."

"I suspected that from the first," said Truxton. "I knew it was that that worried you. And as a friend I feel it my duty to tell you what I heard last evening."

"What did you hear?" broke in Harcourt.

"That the veiled dancer at the Al-cazar is Mrs. Harcourt," replied Truxton.

"The veiled—the Alcazar?" Then Harcourt put his hands to his temples. "She used to be a good dancer,"

he went on, as if to himself. "Yes, but the Alcazar—that of all places!"

"Come, Truxton," he said, "we must go to the Alcazar at once. I must get her out of that place as soon as possible. Come, Truxton, come."

In a short time the two were seated in a box at the theatre.

When the great act finally came Harcourt leaned far out on the box railing, awaiting the dancer's appearance, which was heralded with a dreamy waltz by the orchestra and the sputtering of the calcium. Then a figure leaped lightly into the silvery patch of radiance. It was clothed in a spangled costume, long and of ample folds, while covering the whole there fell from the crown of the head yard upon yard of the thinnest illusion.

Now the swaying figure was like burning gold, now like shining silver.
At the next moment it looked as if bathed in blood; then changed to fiery
red. Next followed such a rapid succession of colors as seemed beyond man's ingenuity to produce. And finally total darkness prevailed. Distant thunder began to rumble, with faint flashes of lightning. Louder and louder it grew, brighter and brighter became the lightning, each time bringing into view the undulating figure of the dancer. Then came a blinding flash, followed by a deafening roar. The bespangled figure fell to the floor, writhing in apparent agony. A few ghastly contortions, the uplifting of a snowy arm and the dancer was over.

Harcourt sat through it all, entranced. He seemed to have forgotten everything save the mystic, gyrating figure. The evolution from one stage to another of the dance en-thrilled him. Even when it was all over he remained sitting, his eyes staring at the stage curtain. But Truxton finally roused him, and once out on the street, Harcourt turned to his friend and said:

"I love, it was wonderful!"

They walked on. Truxton wondered at the other's silence, but said nothing.
When they reached Harcourt's home Truxton noticed his friend turn suddenly round, and seizing him by the arm, cried out:

"My God, Truxton, I must go back!
It was my wife. I had forgotten."

Truxton expostulated with him—tried to lead him up the steps into his home; but Harcourt was determined to go back to the theatre, and Truxton, despairing of changing his mind, at last consented, and together they retraced their steps to the place of amusement. "To think that in the wonder of it all I should forget she was my wife!" Harcourt repeated again and again.

The dancer had left when they reached the theatre. The manager was standing in the lobby, and Harcourt opened up a conversation with him.
He was a gruff man, and in a few words told that the dancer would receive no one, nor would she conde-scend to accept written matter other than that relating to her vaudeville engagements.

After this Harcourt tried his best to secure an interview with the dancer.
He went to the theatre night after night, waiting at the stage entrance to see her come out.

One evening he came home, and taking a revolver from his pocket, laid it upon the table before him.

"You'll dance for the last time tonight, Nyganza," he said half aloud.
"Your agony will not be feigned. The lightning will strike in earnest tonight."

He put the weapon into his pocket, donned his hat and coat, and went out into the street.

As the door closed after him Chalmers, the butler, rushed up the stairs and along the hall to the rooms which Mrs. Harcourt had chosen to occupy.
He rapped at the door. It was cautiously opened. A few moments' breathless conversation followed. Then Mrs. Harcourt cried out:

"Order the carriage, Chalmers, quick.
Tell Marie to get ready with my things.
I must reach the Alcazar before—"

The door closed and Chalmers bound ed through the passage.

Mrs. Harcourt succeeded in getting a box directly back of the one her husband occupied. There was but a thin silky curtain between them.

When the glittering figure appeared Mrs. Harcourt moved still closer to her husband, her eyes wild, her breath coming quickly. Her mind was centered upon reaching over and touching him—to speak a word that would tell him she was not there upon the stage, but in the box behind him, ready to forgive and forget. But she could not. The very knowledge of the impending tragedy turned her into a thing of stone.

The vivid flashes of mock lightning now began to light up the stage. The thunder was gradually becoming louder. The figure on the stage was twisting, swaying, gyrating.

The final great flash was about to illumine the stage. In the short interval of darkness Harcourt raised his revolver into place, pointing it at the spot where he knew the dancer to be.
"Arthur!"

The revolver fell from his grasp.
He turned round, his face deathly, his eyes open to their widest.

"Constance!" he cried softly. "Constance!"

When they reached the rear of the theater both looked back at the stage.
In the dazzling light they saw a writhing figure, the uplifting of a snowy arm, then dense gloom.

Once more in the costly lighted drawing room Arthur Harcourt sat down and drew his wife to him.

"Constance," he said, "I did not know how dear you were to me until you had gone. Oh, how miserable I have been! I'll be different now, Constance. Forgive me."

"I forgive you, Arthur," she whispered.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

John Allen, of Mississippi, says that in all the 16 years he was a member of congress he never knew a man to be troubled with conscientious scruples or prevented by constitutional limitations from voting for an appropriation of any kind if it was for the benefit of his district or community.

Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, has been sending very fine grass seed to some of his constituents for a couple of years. Last week he received this letter: "Dear Mr. Cooper: I want to thank you very much for the seed you have been sending me. Please do not send any more, as our canary died ten days ago. The bird did not seem to thrive on the seed you have been sending."

John Sharp Williams, the Mississippi wit, tells of a southern friend whose colored valet fell in love with a pair of long-checked trousers which his master owned. By way of hastening the day when they should be turned over to him he threw some grease on them. Then he reported that he was unable to remove the spots. "Have you tried everything, Sam?" said his master. "Yes, sah."
"Have you tried ammonia?" "No, sah," replied Sam, insinuatingly. "I ain't tried dem on me, but I'm sho' them pants' fit me good."

Representative Maddox, of Georgia, who is soon to retire from congress, has received this letter from a constituent:
"Dear Mister Congressman: Sum time ago I writ you asking if their were anny thing the gubment could do to make a fightin wife behave herself. I aint heard from you and things is no better.
Will you please let me know how I can get one of them big pizen snakes from Afrikey. I have always voted for you and this is mity little to ask of you, specially when a mans wife is always a peekin on him."

Senator McEnery is afflicted with a certain degree of deafness. He can hear less at times than at others, it is said.
seek to draw information from him that he is unwilling to give he is particularly hard of hearing. It was during one of his dead periods that he emerged from a recent executive session and was accosted by a correspondent. "Well, senator, anything doing on the inside?" asked the newspaper man. "Yes, the weather is pretty bad outside," answered the senator. "It's pretty hard on us old people." And he bowed pleasantly and passed on, leaving the newspaper man wondering.

THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION.

The perfume woods and plants of the Philippine islands will be shown at the world's fair in a special collection.

Idaho will make a big exhibit of tin ore at the world's fair. Important discoveries of this metal, so rare in America, were made recently near Salmon City, Idaho.

California will install an olive oil factory in the California space in the agricultural building at the world's fair. The process of extracting the oil will be shown in detail.

The largest punch bowl ever made will be exhibited in the Palace of Varied Industries at the world's fair. It weighs 134 pounds and its cost in glass and labor alone is over $1,800. The famous McKintley bowl, heretofore the greatest made, weighs 75 pounds.

A few days ago the largest glass bottles ever blown were made at the works of the Illinois Glass company for exhibition at the Louisiana Purchase exposition. The capacity of each bottle is 45 gallons. Four perfect bottles were made. Each stands nearly six feet high and measures about 16 inches across the bottom. The men who blew the bottles each supplied about 11,000 cubic feet of air.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Peruna in the House for Catarrhal Diseases.

MR. AND MRS. J. O. ATKINSON, INDEPENDENCE, MO.

UNDER date of January 10, 1897, Dr.
Hartman received the following letter:

"My wife had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past 25 years.

"Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing.

"She also was passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life. In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her. She firmly believes that she would have been dead only for these wonderful remedies.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of 25 years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me.

"Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken according to directions. Success to you and your remedies."

John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1899, Mr.
Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will never continue to speak a good word for Peruna. In my rounds as a traveling man I am a walking advertisement for Peruna and have induced many people during the past year to use Peruna with the most satisfactory results. I am still cured of catarrh."

John O. Atkinson,
Independence, Mo.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safe-guard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that meets these cases exactly.

Such cases cannot be treated locally;
nothing but an effective systemic remedy could cure them. This is exactly what Peruna is.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

HYOMEI RECORD BREAKER.

Novel Method of Curing Catarrh. Sold On Approval by Clarke & Co.

The popularity and remarkable sale of Hyomei have broken all records. In nearly every city and town in the country, this guaranteed cure for catarrh has given most astonishing results.

The leading druggists are so enthusiastic over the remarkable percentage of cure following the use of Hyomei, that with hardly an exception, they advertise to their customers that Hyomei will be sold with the understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures.

In Paris, Clarke & Co. are endorsing it and guaranteeing to refund the money unless Hyomei cures catarrh. They have sold a great many Hyomei outfits, and today, no other treatment for the cure of catarrh has as many friends in Paris and vicinity as Hyomei.

It is a scientific, yet common sense method of treating and curing this too common disease. It sends by direct inhalation to every cell of the air passages in the head throat and lungs, a balsamic air that destroys all catarrhal germs, purifies the blood with additional ozone and makes a complete and lasting cure of any catarrhal trouble.

The complete outfit costs but $1, and includes an inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

You take no risk in buying Hyomei. Clarke & Co. positively guarantee to refund your money unless it cures.

GOOD STUFF.—Pabst Beer now on sale. Nothing half so good. Get the best always and take no other. Pabst Beer has stood test for years. It is pure and wholesome. (18mar1m) ST. CHARLES BAR.

The Paris Milling Co.

Representative A. S. Thompson.

The Kentucky Legislature closed its session on last Tuesday with many good laws enacted. The Courier Journal takes occasion to recall the work of the Louisville members, and this reminds us that Bourbon's Representative is entitled to an expression of gratitude from the Democrats not only of Bourbon, but of other counties. Mr. Thompson was the author of the bill changing the Appellate Districts, so as to make six out of seven districts Democratic, whereas, before this change, two districts were certainly Republican, and in Presidential years four were possibly Republican. When there are Republicans on the Appellate Bench, all Democratic measures are open to obstruction and defeat.

In all governments by the people, the majority should rule. This is a Democratic State, Democrats being in the majority. The Democrats, therefore, have a right to rule it. A Republican Appellate Bench in a Democratic state is an anomaly not to be endured. Mr. Thompson was persistent in his efforts and pushed the bill to a successful issue. With like zeal he aided in passing the bill against the co-education of the white and colored races at Berea. In addition he aided in the passage of a new and more stringent and far reaching law on the subject of vagrancy and idleness on the part of that class who ought to labor for a living, but who refuse to do so, and lounge about and subsist by secret depredations on the working element of the community.

Mr. Thompson also introduced in the interest of our farmers a bill to prevent the adulteration of Bluegrass seeds and other seeds. He was a member of the Committee on Rules for the House, and also a member of five or six other important committees. Bourbon's Representative has therefore taken a prominent, able and effective part in the last legislative proceedings, and discharged his duties with honor to himself, with fidelity to his party and with credit to the county which sent him.

GET THE BEST.—If you want a good bottle of Beer, that is pure and wholesome, try a bottle of the Pabst Beer. It is strictly fine and never fails to reach the spot. (18mar1m) ST. CHARLES BAR.
